An Important Message from the President—Modification of the Test Oath Recommended.

On Friday last, to the House of Representatives, at Washington, the President transmitted communications from the Secretary of the Treasury and the Postmaster General, addressed to him by those officers, suggesting a modification of the oath of office prescribed by the act of Congress approved July 2, 1862. He fully concurs in their recommendations, and as the subject pertains to the efficient administration of the revenue and postal laws in the Southern States he earnestly commends it to the early consideration of Congress.

The letter of the Secretary of the Treasury contains the names of collectors of internal revenue, assessors, assistant assessors, collectors and surveyors of customs, &c., appointed since the overthrow of the rebellion in the Southern States, who have not been able to take literally the oath of office prescribed by the act approved July 2, 1862. Besides these officers a considerable number, perhaps the larger proportion of those holding subordinate positions in the revenue department, have been also unable to comply with the requirements of the statute.—As a consequence, they have served without compensation, as their accounts could not be audited by the accounting officers of the government. Many of these officers have performed very important duties with fidelity, and not a few must be in great distress by reason of their inabilities. When the appointments were made it was found that it would be difficult to find competent officers in many of the Southern revenue districts who could take the oath referred to; so important did it seem to the President and the Cabinet, for the purpose of equalizing the public burdens, that the revenue system should be established throughout the recently rebellious States with as little delay as practicable, and that the unpleasant duty of collecting taxes from an exhausted and lately rebellious people should be performed by her own citizens, that the Secretary of the Treasury did not hesitate to recommend for appointment and to appoint men of whose present loyalty there was no question, but who might, either willingly or unwillingly, during the progress of the rebellion, have been so connected with the insurgent State or Confederate Governments as to be unable to take the oath of office. This was not done from any disposition to disregard the law, but with an honest and sincere purpose of collecting the revenues with as little trouble to the tax payers as possible. The country was in a peculiar condition; the rebellion had come to a sudden close; all resistance to the authority of the United States had ceased, and some seven millions of people in a state of utter disorganization were left without any civil government whatever, and without even an adequate military protection against anarchy and violence under these circumstances.—As it seemed clearly to be the duty of the Executive to proceed at once to establish the Federal authority and civil government in these States, so it seemed to be necessary to carry into effect the revenue laws of the General Government. As the country was passing from a state of war to a state of peace, and the emergency seemed to be too pressing to admit of delay until the meeting of Congress, it was thought that the test oath might, in view of the great objects to be obtained, in some cases be dispensed with, or rather that persons might be permitted to hold revenue offices who could take it only in a qualified form. No one could have regretted more than the President and the members of the Cabinet the necessity which existed for this course; but there seemed to be no alternative, and it was confidently hoped that under the circumstances of these cases it would be approved by Congress. Among those whose names are presented to the President, the Secretary has no reason to suppose that there is one who can justly be charged with being instrumental in instigating the rebellion, although a few may have contributed to its support and continuance. Some with strong attachments for the Union had followed the States in which they lived into the war against the United States, under the baleful influence of the doctrine of State sovereignty. Some had held office under the insurgent authorities as the only means of supporting their families.—Others, to escape conscription, or to be in a better condition to resist at the proper time Confederate rule. Not one is known to have been a disunionists or unfriendly to the government at the commencement of the war. A very slight change in the oath—a change that would not cover a particle of present disloyalty—would enable the most of them to hold the offices they are now so acceptably filling.—Great loss to the government and inconvenience to the Department must result from the discontinuance of their services. After stating reasons at large why the oath should be modified, the Secretary says the rebellion grew out of antagonism of opinion between the people of the free and slave States—the legitimate result of a difference of institutions. With the abolition of slavery all real difference of opinion and all serious causes of estrangement ought rapidly to disappear. It will be a calamity, and the extent of which cannot now be estimated, both to this nation and to the cause of civil liberty throughout the world, if, instead of looking to reconciliation and harmony, the action of the Government shall tend to harden and intensify a sectionalism between the Northern and Southern States. It is difficult to conceive of a more unfortunate course for the United States to pursue than to make tax-gatherers at the South of men who are strangers to the people. It needs no reference to history, although it is full of lessons upon this subject, to illustrate the fatal consequences of such a policy.

Appended to this letter of the Secretary of the Treasury are the names of forty-nine persons acting as assessors and collectors in the Southern States who have not taken the oath of office without qualification. It is added that there are undoubtedly others whose names have not been received. It appears from a letter of the Commissioner of Customs, that the following named persons are the only customs officers who have taken the oath in a modified form:—James M. Mathews, collector, Rappahannock, Virginia; William S. Craft, collector, Georgetown, South Carolina; Gordon Forbes, collector Yacomo, Virginia; Wilham Leitch, surveyor, Charleston, South Carolina; F. M. Robinson, special examiner of drugs, and Edgar M. Lazarus and J. F. Walker, appraisers, Charleston, South Carolina.

The Postmaster-General, in his communication, says, as a means of restoring the business interest in the Southern States, and of aiding in the re-establishment of their constitutional relations with the government, it was deemed important by the President and Cabinet that the mails should be introduced and Postoffices be re-opened in those States as rapidly as possible; to which end the energies of the Department were promptly and have been continuously directed. Various causes have doubtless contributed to the failure in accomplishing all that was hoped for; but that resulting from the oath prescribed by acts of July 2, 1862, and March 3, 1863, has not been the least, while it has been the one to which his attention has been most frequently called. This, as he is inclined to believe, has not been owing exclusively to there not being loyal persons who could take the oath, but to the limited compensation, most of the offices offering insufficient inducements to persons to act as postmasters, and to the unwillingness of many who might otherwise act, to do so on account of the inconvenience and compromise of their positions, which they fear would result from taking the oath, when the majority of their neighbors consist of those who had in some form aided the rebellion. To obviate these difficulties in part, recourse has been had to the appointment of women as postmistresses, which has proved to be of doubtful utility to the service. And necessity has also compelled the appointment of very many ignorant persons, incompetent to discharge the duties of their offices. As a remedy for the future the Postmaster-General suggests a modification of the oath by inserting the word "voluntarily" immediately preceeding the word "sought," so that the clause would read: "That I have neither voluntarily sought nor accepted, nor attempted to exercise, the functions of any office whatever under any authority or pretended authority in hostility to the United States." This would enlarge the class of persons who could quality as postmasters and mail contractors, and be in harmony, it seems to him, with the general provisions and purposes of the oath, and thus facilitate the speedy re-establishment of the postal service to the common benefit of all the sections of the country; for it must be borne in mind that while the people of the Southern States are more directly interested in the restoration, other States are also largely interested. It may be, he says, interesting to know that of 2,258 mail routes in operation in the disloyal States at the breaking out of the rebellion, the service of 757 only has been restored, and that of 8,902 postoffices in those States only 2,042 appointments of postmasters have been made, of whom 1,177 only have qualified for office, 747 of them being males and 420 females. Of the 865 who have not qualified, it is believed that quite all of them have not done so because of the oath.

The Postmaster General adds, in justice to the department, in view of the inefficient service as shown by the foregoing facts, that no propositions for transportation of the mails for a fair consideration have been declined, while postmasters have been uniformly and promptly appointed upon reliable recommendations. The Postmaster General concludes by saying he need not enlarge upon evils resulting from so partial a restoration of the postal service in the Southern States, nor upon the benefits to the Government and to the people of all sections of the country that would result from a more general and efficient restoration of that service.

These papers were referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

SALISBURY BRASS BAND

REORGANIZED 1st January, 1866, on a larger scale than formerly, under the direction of its former tutor, W. H. NEAVE, who was also chief music writer and Band Teacher in Gen. Lee's army. He will be assisted in leadship and direction by his brother, Ed. Neave, leader during the entire late war of Gen. Lee's best and most favorite band, viz: 4th N. C. The Band is composed of the best members of the old Band, together with the best members of several of the fine Bands trained by W. H. Neave, in camps, who have moved to Salisbury from all points in the State to follow their respective vocations and continue the study and practice of music. This Band will be a permanent institution for all State and festive occasions, and will equal the best to be found in the world, if sustained by those desiring a fine order of Brass and String music; if not, it must go down after this year.

W. H. Neave is also agent for the celebrated Dodworth Brass instruments, proved and warranted to him, and by him to others; also, the most pleasing, effective and popular Piano music, selected by his friends, H. B. Dodworth and Kent Botsford, New York. For beginners, medium players, and advanced musicians, no trash for either.

Music composed and arranged to order for Parlor, Orchestral and Brass Band use for any kind and number of instruments

Salisbury has been selected for Musical Headquarters for its central position.

The Civil Rights Bill.

We expressed the opinion, the other day, that if the Civil Rights bill became a law, the President would execute it, properly and wisely, until declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, or until repealed by Congress.—Much as we dislike the bill, we would not have the President act otherwise than in strict conformity to his oath, nor would we have our people violate, in the slighest degree, any obligation, to preserve the peace and quiet of the nation or to support the Union and the Constitution, which they have assumed.

The law was passed by the Congress, professedly under the authority of the recent amendment to the Constitution which authorizes Congress to adopt such necessary and proper legislation as may be deemed important to carry out the amendment abolishing slavery, and to maintain the freedom of the negro.

It is thus, in the very outset, the fears of those who opposed section second of the new amendment to the Constitution, have been realized,—fears expressed boldly in the Legislature by Col. Ferebee, of Camden, for which he has been denounced as opposing the President's policy, if not disloyal.

We have heretofore mentioned, that the section in question was mere surplusage, if it was not designed, as Mr. Seward maintained, to restrain the power of Congress and prevent improper legislation. Without that clause, Congress had full power to pass any law to enforce every article of the Constitution; hence the proposition to empower Congress to legislate to enforce any special article was wholly unnecessary, unless it was designed to restrict its power.

The bill, under the searching criticisms of President Johnson and the press, is rendered entirely odious to the South, not only because of the large powers assumed by Congress, in clear violation of other portions of the Constitution, but especially on account of the aggravation and perplexity it would occasion, if executed under the promptings of such constructions as Radical officers would undoubtedly put upon it.

But the clause of the bill which professedly sets forth its object and design, upon any fair construction, does not confer upon native blacks, Chinese, gypsies &c., any new political or social right, unless all these rights are included in the term "citizens of the United States." But that they are not included in that term must be evident. The term citizen simply confers civil rights, such as are recognized in the bill as essential to freedom, i. e. the right to sue and be sued, "be parties and give evidence, to inherit, purchase, lease, sell, hold and convey real and personal property, and to be entitled to full and equal benefit of all laws and proceedings for the security of person and property, as is enjoyed by white citizens, and shall be subject to like punishments, pains and penalties, and to none other." All these and no more are enjoyed by white females acting for themselves.—They are citizens to all intents and purposes, yet this confers upon them no political or social right or immunity, because of their citizenship.

But has Congress the power to declare native born persons, citizens? We think it has, not from any express clause in the Constitution, but from the power necessarily inhering to every government, to fix the status of those whom it is bound to protect or from whom it receives support. A citizen of the United States is not however, necessarily, a citizen of one of the States. All citizens of each State are citizens of the United States, necessarily, but not vice versa. Some of the citizens of the United States are domiciled in the District of Columbia and in the Territories. They claim citizenship, not because they have been citizens of any one of the States, but because of their nativity in and allegiance to the United States. Hence the declaration of the bill that such and such persons are citizens of the United States, confers upon them no new right or immunity, which their freedom did not secure to them in fact before, but to give form to that fact. The blacks of this country have not been heretofore acknowledged to be citizens, for the reason that, until now, all persons of African descent derived all their civil rights from the States in which they resided, and those rights, because of the recognition of slavery by the Constitution, were not cognizable by the United States government, only as they were shown to be theirs in the several States.

If this view be correct, then it will follow that in those Southern States, where the rights essential to the freedom of the blacks are recognized, as in North Carolina, the bill is unnecessary and will be mischievous in its execution by the machinery appointed by the bill to execute it. Our own laws guarantee to the freedmen every thing that is necessary to the full enjoyment of their freedom, though they do not confer upon them any new political or social immunity. But in the Northern States, the case is different; but the plan proposed by this bill for the correction of existing laws or customs depriving the blacks or others of the rights of freedom, is both mischievous, contrary to usage and custom, and to the Constitution itself.

It is the assumption, on the part of Congress, to legislate for the municipal regulation of the States, to place one class of persons in the States under the jurisdiction of the Federal government and another under the jurisdiction of the State governments, not authorized by the practice of the government nor the Constitution, that makes the bill so odious. Moreover, the establishing of a police over the people of the States in time of peace, which will most certainly prove an instrument of irritation and injury, justifies the clamor and opposition which exist to the bill and its purposes.

Modification of the Test Oath.

On our first page, this morning, will be found an interesting synopsis of the recommendations of the Secretary of the Treasury and the Postmaster General relative to the modification of the Test Oath, communicated to Congress, by the President, a few days since, and approved by him. The reader cannot fail to be impressed by the conservative and generous tenor of Mr. McCulloch's positions. They evince a spirit of enlightened humanity as well as an enlarged grasp of statesmanship. Endorsed, as they are, by the President, they serve to throw full and clear light upon the construction of the term "loyalty," as prescribed in his Amnesty Proclamation and his correspondence with the Ex-Provisional Governor as the qualification for voters and for persons appointed or elected to office. The Secretary states that he has already made many appointments of persons, who, from various causes, which he specifies, were unable to take the oath, and he suggests that a slight change in the oath—"a change that would not cover a particle of PRESENT DISLOYALTY,"—would enable them to hold the offices they are now so acceptably filling. If this is not conclusive as to the meaning of the President, then we are at a loss to comprehend the significance of the plainest language. The Secretary appointed men, in the first place, notwithstanding their inability to take the Test Oath; he now proposes such a modification of that oath as will enable them to retain their positions, inasmuch as the oath, so modified, will not cover any present disloyalty—which is thus proclaimed, the other proper qualifications not being wanting, to be the only rule for exclusion from office! This is in accordance with what we have uniformly maintained to be the President's policy and wishes in this respect, and conveys another pointed rebuke to those men, who officiously and arrogantly attempt to speak for him or to interpolate a test which he has never thought of prescribing. To demand a different one would be to obstruct the whole civil machinery in its application to the Southern States; and this Mr. Johnson, with his sagacious prevision, readily appreciated. He saw that the wheels of government under such an obstruction would either stop, or that their working would have to be entrusted to strangers, unacquainted with our wants, and unidentified with our interests.

And here the Secretary, reflecting the views of the President, gives another evidence of his practical good sense, and at the same time exhibits a wise recognition of the teachings of history. "It is difficult to conceive," he says, "of a more unfortunate course for the United States to pursue, than to make tax-gatherers at the South of men who are strangers to the people." The history of Poland, of Hungary and of Ireland is replete with lessons to the point. The alien tax-gatherer is but an instrument of discord and hate. His presence not only embitters the people against himself, but towards the Government which he represents. Every official act intensifies the feeling of hostility, and every stroke of his pen adds additional emphasis to the death-warrant of peace and amity. In the impressive words of the Secretary, "it will be a calamity, the extent of which cannot now be estimated, both to this nation and the cause of civil liberty throughout the world, if, instead of looking to reconciliation and harmony, the action of the Government shall tend to harden and intensify a sectionalism between the Northern and Southern States!"

THE AMERICAN EAGLE.—This is the title of a new paper just issued in Louisburg, one of the most intelligent and delightful villages in the State, by Messrs. Newby and Pleasants. It is edited by Mr. Pleasants and R. J. Wynne, Esq. The first No. gives good promise of a very readable paper. Its editorials are well written and the tone of the paper is decidedly good.—The compliment which the "Eagle" pays to Gov. Worth is just and well merited. We wish it much success.

For the Sentinel.

The Sentinel and The Standard---Information Wanted.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Your paper is highly prized in Western North Carolina, as a political journal, and the course you have taken, in reference to the government and the President's policy, meets the entire approbation of the people. We are, therefore, determined to use every laudable means to extend the circulation of the Sentinel as widely as possible, so that the erroneous impressions made by your neighbor, the "Standard," may be corrected in the public mind.

The "Standard," by it's unreasonable course of procedure, is losing favor among the mountaineers of our State. It was once a very popular journal among the people here. But Western North Carolina is not to be bamboozled and misled by intriguing politicians long, without discovering the artifices of those who essay to deceive her. When a journal shows itself destitute of principle, by becoming a weathercock to indicate which way soever the wind of public sentiment blows, it is soon discarded by the honest, sensible yeomanry of Western North Carolina.

Many of us were strong friends of W. W. Holden, while he was Provisional Governor of the State, and, as a matter of what we believed to be the true policy of North Carolina, we urged the necessity of his election by the people to the gubernatorial chair. But the course his journal has taken, since his defeat, is plain proof that his great ambition is office, and not the good of the people. If the Provisional Governor had taken his defeat patiently, and had he shown himself a true man by "chiming in" with the general sentiment of the Southern people, he might, in future, have secured almost any office within the gift of our people. But his irritable and disappointed spirit has become the true index of his character; and this, with the fact of his attempting to fix upon the citizens of the State the stigma of disloyalty to the Federal Government, has dug his political grave in North Carolina. But I now change my subject to the second heading.

From your position as a journalist, it is believed that you are able to answer the following interrogatories, and oblige a number of your best friends:

1. Are promissory notes to be stamped; if so, what is the value of the stamps to be placed upon $100, $200, $300, &c., &c?

2. Which party is required by law to put on the stamp,—the giver or holder of the note?

3. Are those notes which were given before the creation of the Stamp Act, to be stamped, or does the law apply to those only which have been given since its creation?

4. Are deeds of conveyance to be stamped? and, if so, must those given before the Act was a law, be stamped? and with what value, &c., &c.

5. What is the penalty in each case above, of neglect? And in the case of givers and holders of notes, upon which party does the penalty fall?

An answer to each of these questions will confer a great favor upon many of your readers in the State. Many of our best citizens of Western North Carolina have never seen the law; hence our ignorance.

Respectfully, BURKE.

ANSWERS TO THE QUESTIONS OF OUR CORRESPONDENT.

1. They are to be stamped—five cents on a sum not exceeding $100, and for every additional one hundred dollars, or fractional part thereof in excess of one hundred, five cents. An ordinary note for payment of money, although with a seal to it, is, under a late ruling of the Commissioner of the Revenue, to be stamped as above, and not as a "Bond," under the Revenue act.

2. The giver of the note is to affix the stamp, and cancel it at the time of giving it, by writing on the stamp the date, and the initials of his name. If more than one name to the note, any one of them may affix the stamp and cancel it.

3. Only such notes as have been given since the passage of the stamp act are to be stamped.

4. Deeds of conveyance, made since the passage of the act only, are to be stamped. For real estate, the tax is, when the consideration or value does not exceed $500, 50 cents; when it exceeds $500, but does not exceed $1000, the tax is $1; and for every additional $500, or fractional part thereof in excess of $1000, 50 cents.

5. By the law, as it now stands, (the act of March 3rd., 1865,) there is a penalty of $50 on the maker of any paper required to be stamped, and also on one who accepts, negotiates or pays any bill, draft, order or promissory note, &c., without being stamped, if the failure to stamp has been done with intent to evade the law, and the instrument shall be invalid and of no effect.

There is a mode pointed out by the act for procuring papers to be stamped by application to the district tax collector—which, now, we do not propose to give.

Business men should procure the little pamphlet containing an abstract of the law and the stamp rates in all cases.

They can be found, we are told, at the National Bank in this place.—(EDS. SENTINEL.)

THE USURPER ENTHRONED.—The Radicals have denounced President Johnson as a usurper, and now they have by their votes in Congress not only accepted him as such, but have entrusted to him dictatorial powers. Against his will they have declared that he shall imprison all State judges who disagree with him about the negro; they have declared that he shall fill thousands of offices with his favorites; that he shall have supreme control of the Southern States; that he shall use to an arbitrary extent his power as commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States. These are momentous powers to entrust to a single individual. But President Johnson has the sagacity to exercise them with prudence and judgment.

ERRATUM.—In our report of the evidence in the case of Zilla Thornton, published on yesterday, the types made the witnesses for the defence say "they had seen Mrs. Yelverton in the shad, when they got there." For "shed" read "street." The correction is important, as a perusal of the evidence will show.

Cholera on Shipboard.

NEW YORK, April 9.—A dispatch from Halifax says that the steamer England has 160 cases of cholera on board. There have been forty deaths.

CONGRESSIONAL.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Senate.—The Senate to day passed the Loan Bill as it came from the House.

House.—The House took up and passed the Civil Rights Bill over the veto, by a vote of 122 yeas to 41 nays. Upon the announcement of the vote there was great excitement—the cheering lasting several minutes. The galleries were crowded, and the floor of the Representatives' chamber was filled by privileged persons. The number of Senators attracted thither were so many as to have left that body without a quorum. Amid the confusion which ensued, the House adjourned.

FROM EUROPE.

HALIFAX, April 10.—The steamship England, with dates to 29th ultimo, has arrived. Cotton declined ¼ a ⅛d. The sales of the week amounted to 42,000 bales, including 8,000 bales on Thursday. Middling Orleas 19¼d. Consols closed at 84¼a84¾. Five-twenties 71a71¾.

On Monday the prospect of an Austro-Prussian war was increasing. The crisis is considered imminent. The cattle plague is on the decline.

[Washington Correspondence N. Y. Herald.]

The Radicals' Next Move.

There are various opinions afloat as to the next move of the radicals. It is generally supposed that the representation amendment to the constitution will be brought up immediately and carried to an issue, as far as Senatorial action is concerned. There are a multitude of propositions before the body, and to dispose of them all, if considered at any length, will require an almost endless debate before any determination is arrived at. It is natural to suppose that the number of resolutions to the same effect, and very nearly in the same words, will create great dissension in the party which has the question most at heart. There are very few radicals now left who have not introduced one or more amendments of his own on this subject, and all of those who have are ardent champions of the proposition which figures under their own names. The result will be a series of hand-to-hand encounters, in which it would be a difficult matter to say who will come out ahead.—It cannot be supposed either that the contest will be a brief one, as its miscellaneous character will involve a stubborn strife and the infliction of no inconsiderable number of long winded arguments for popular edification.

[From the New York Herald.]

In this Civil Rights bill they upset all the measures of loyal legislation accomplished or undertaken by the late slave States to adapt their two races of people to the abolition of slavery without undue violence to the laws, usages and customs, distinctions and prejudices of a hundred years' cultivation and legal protection, colonial, state and federal. A generous consideration of these things had its full weight in the President's veto. In an appeal from Congress to the people, the safe, sound and acceptable policy of President Johnson will surely be sustained.

[From the Baltimore Sun.]

The antagonism between the President and Congress, which has now culminated with the passage of the civil rights bill, must arouse the nation to the struggle which is in progress. By the restoration of civil authority, under the proclamation of the second of April, the judiciary have been again entrusted with the preservation of the constitution and laws, and by the struggle between the President and Congress, the people will be aroused to the support of the guardian of their reserved rights. The passage of the civil rights bill under these circumstances, may be the occasion of the speedier termination of the short lived power of those who have thus far wielded legislative authority for objects foreign to the general good, and disastrous to the public peace.

Restoration of Property.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The Secretary of the Treasury has directed that the Charleston Gas Works be restored to their original corporation.

THE NINTH OF APRIL.—To-day a year ago, around the bases of the hills at Appomattox, resounded the echoes of those farewell guns which sounded the funeral knell of a dead nation, when exhaustion and the wearying drain upon energies of a hope so long deferred had reduced to half-crazed despair the spirit of as gallant men as ever breathed the red air of battle: and when was furled for desposit in the long Senate Halls of the past a Banner which had shone over victory as brilliant and heroism as unflinching as ever illumined the history of any era of bloody woe.

At daybreak the doomed army was drawn up in a circle, surrounded by its myriad enemies. Conflict began with light, as the head of the columns moved northward and found the last avenue of escape blockaded. For a short while sounds of battle rang fiercely out upon the morning's air, and a wild cheer went up from the Southerners as, after a gallant charge, some of Fitz Lee's cavalry (among them our own 13th) returned with a mounted battery they had captured entire. Almost before the tones of enthusiasm had died out, the firing ceased, a stillness of death pervaded everything, and soon strange whispers went about among the men.—At last the truth was known. The tears of that April morning had no sunshine to the hearts from which the weeping sprung. There was scarcely room for political regret, or for realization of the effect of our disaster upon the general situation, in the minds which were embittered and made wretched with the soldier's agonizing sense of defeat.

The General looked along the shattered lines of his remnant corps, and wept in thinking for what his best and bravest had fallen.

The private leaned upon his useless gun and mourned the death of the just pride which he had won from danger at the cannon's mouth on a hundred fields. But it was over.

Twelve months have passed since then—since, with the powder stains yet upon our faces, we gave a pledge to a generous conqueror to abide by the issue honestly; and we feel a glow of honest exultation this anniversary day, in saying and knowing that if pledges have been broken, ours have been kept. If peace has not returned, it is not our fault. As faithfully as we followed the fortunes of that ill-starred flag have we stood by the oaths then registered; and, in the great contest now in progress, it is the Rebels—the surrendered at Appomattox Courthouse—who are found to a man upon the platform whose foundation and superstructure are the Conrtitution and the Union.—Petersburg Index, 9th.

CLEANSE THE BLOOD.

With corrupt, disordered or vitiated Blood, you are sick all over. It may burst out in Pimples, or Sores, or in some active disease, or it may merely keep you listless, depressed and good for nothing. But you cannot have good health while your blood is impure. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA purges out these impurities and stimulates the organs of life into vigorous action, restoring the health and expelling disease. Hence it rapidly cures a variety of complaints which are caused by impurity of the blood, such as Scrofula, or Kings' Evil, Tumors, Ulcers, Sores, Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter or Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Cancer or Cancerous Tumors, Sore Eyes, Female Diseases, such as Retention, Irregularity, Suppression, Whites, Sterility, also Syphilis or Venereal Diseases, Liver Complaints, and Heart Diseases. Try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and see for yourself the surprising activity with which it cleanses the blood and cures these disorders.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound "Sarsaparilla," and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. We can only assure the sick, that we offer them the best alterative which we know how to produce, and we have reason to believe, it is by far the most effectual purifier of the blood yet discovered by any body.

Ayers Cherry Pectoral is so universally known to surpass every other remedy for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease, that it is useless here to recount the evidence of its virtues. The world knows them.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & Co., Lowell, Mass., and sold by Williams & Haywood, P. F. Pescud, Raleigh, N. C., and Dealers generally.

CITY AND STATE ITEMS.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—The "Raleigh National Bank of North Carolina" publishes its Second Quarterly Report. Under the skillful and judicious management of its President and Cashier, it will be seen that the Bank is doing a good business.

See altered appointments of Bishop Atkinson.

The store at present occupied by Clarke Bros. is for rent.

THE TABLEAUX TO-NIGHT.—We are sure that we need not remind our citizens of the Ladies' Tableaux entertainment, which comes off to-night at the Chapel of the Deaf, Dumb and Blind Institute. We had the pleasure of attending a Dress rehearsal on Tuesday night, and can promise the community an exhibition of no ordinary beauty. The scenes are selected with rare taste and discrimination, the various characters are appreciatively represented, and the costumery is rich and appropriate. We think that we can designate one or two representations that are alone worth the price of admission.

But why speak of the intrinsic merits of the exhibition,—attractive as they are? The motive which has prompted the ladies in getting it up is what challenges our admiration and should receive the hearty and substantial endorsement of every man, woman and child in the community. During the war, when our brave boys were in the field, the various movements to provide for their comfort always received a cordial and enthusiastic support at our hands. A holier obligation now demands an offering,—an obligation, to seem faithless to which would be a reflection alike upon our sense of gratitude and humanity. Let us have such a demonstration, therefore, to-night, as will prove that the memories of the gallant dead,—who died for us,—are yet fresh and green in our hearts. The ladies have done their part,—as they always do, when public virtue is to be illustrated. Let the community at large do their's, by giving the fair exhibitors an overflowing house.

We are informed that there is an impression prevalent that only a portion of the proceeds are to be appropriated to the erection of the "Stonewall Cemetery." This is an entire mistake. The exhibition is exclusively for the purpose of assisting in that Christian design.

BAPTIST CONVENTION.—The next session of the Baptist State Convention will be held with the church in Raleigh, and will commence on the Wednesday before the fourth Sabbath in May.

THROUGH TRAVEL.—We learn from the Charlotte Times, that the South Carolina Railroad from Columbia to Augusta, as well as to Charleston, has been completed. It is said that the entire track of the company will be finished about the first of May. This will complete all of the broken links in the line of travel South from Charlotte.

REV. A. W. CUMMINGS, having accepted the Presidency of the Female College at Spartanburg, S. C., has withdrawn from Editorial connection with the Asheville News.

SAD SUICIDE.—The Asheville News announces the self-destruction of Col. L. C. Clayton, an estimable citizen of Buncombe. He put an end to his existence on Sunday, the 1st., while his family were at church. No reason is given for this melancholy deed, except it is stated that he has been depressed in spirit ever since he was deprived of his property by Stoneman's raiders.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.—Giles Christian, of Montgomery Co., was robbed last Sunday night, by three men near Cheraw, S. C., of $325.—When four miles out from Cheraw, on the Rockingham road, and while watering his horses at a branch, three men, as mentioned above, with revolvers drawn and dressed in Federal uniform, sprang from the bushes near the side of the road, one of them seizing the horses and the other two Mr. C., pulling him from his buggy, one holding him while the other rifled him of the amount mentioned above.

The "Eagle" states that a Cotton Factory is about to be established in Louisburg.

LOUISBURG MALE ACADEMY.—We are glad to learn, that the male school under the charge of M. S. Davis, Esq., is in a highly prosperous condition.

HERTFORD COUNTY.—Murfreesboro' derives its name from Harry Murfree, who resided in this county, and was a Captain in the Revolutionary war. History informs us that Hertford county was named in compliment to the Marquis of Hertford, an English nobleman, a friend of liberty, and elder brother of Lord Conway, who, in 1766, moved in the House of Lords the repeal of the Stamp Act. He was embassador at Paris in the reign of George III, and afterwards Lord Lieutenant of Ireland.—Hertford is a name of Saxon origin, and signifies the Red Ford.

Thompson dedicated his immortal poem, "The Seasons," to the Marchioness of Hertford. Among the distinguished names of former days, and who stand enrolled in the history of this county, are General Thomas Wynne and Hon. William Hardy Murfree. Both filled posts of honor in the legislative halls of the States and United States.

The agricultural interest of this county will be very well developed this year. The planters are busy and forward. They have secured abundant help, and large yields are expected.—Cotton seems to be the leading product.—Larger fields will be planted than ever before.—Corn is selling at $4,50 per barrel. This high price is not owning to the scarcity, but, as a great many farmers produced a large crop last year, they do not wish to dispose of it, but keep it to serve them another year, so that they may be able to cultivate a greater quantity of cotton. It is thought by well informed men that because of the determination of planters to produce all they can of this staple commodity, breadstuffs must continue high.

The fisheries on the sound are doing a large business.—Cor. Norfolk Virginian.

GENERAL NEWS.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The President to-day sent to Congress a message enclosing a communication from the Secretary of the Interior in reference to the grants of bonds made by acts of Congress in the years 1850, 1853 and 1856 to the States of Mississippi, Alabama, Arkansas, Louisiana and Florida, to aid in the construction of railroads, as the grants will expire by limitation on the 11th of August next, leaving the roads for whose benefits they were conferred in an unfinished condition. It is recommended that the time within which they may be completed be extended for a period of five years.

Ex-President Buchanan has been indulging a visit to Harrisburg, Pa., as the guest of Ex-Governor David R. Porter. On Thursday evening, says the Union, of that city, all of the Democratic members of the Legislature, with numbers of citizens, paid their respects to the distinguished statesman of Wheatland, and throughout Friday many of the most eminent citizens called to shake the hand of the venerable ex-President. During the evening he was visited by the Democratic members of the Senate, and by a large number of prominent gentlemen from abroad now in the city. Mr. Buchanan enjoys remarkable health for a man of his years.

ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS.—Expects to leave Washington on Friday next for Georgia. He has called upon a large number of Senators and members of Congress, among whom were many of the Radical persuasion, with whom he talked with great freedom in regard to the present condition of affairs in the South. He is fully satisfied that there is no hope of the admission of any of the Representatives of the Southern States during the continuance of the present Congress. He thinks the dominant party have determined to keep them unrepresented in Congress as long as they have the power to do so, and nothing that those States can do will change their determination.

A MONUMENT TO NORFOLK HEROES.—An association has been organized in Norfolk, under the name of the "Norfolk Monumental Association," the object of which is the erection or a monument to the memory of all the army and navy, from the city of Norfolk, who fell in battle or died in the service of the Confederate States, during the late war.

President Johnson has been frequently importuned of late to release Mr. Davis on his parole. The President has been waiting for Congress to make some provision for his trial, as suggested in his annual message, but Congress does not seem disposed to do anything about it. If they do not, it is very probable that the President will release him on his parole. The surgeon who had charge of Mr. Davis, for some time after his arrest, has been requested to make a report in regard to his conduct during the time he had charge of him. The present surgeon has also been requested to make a report in his case. The purpose of this has not transpired, but it is thought to have something to do with his release.—Washington Letter.

It is rumored, at Washington, that the President's friends are urging him to reorganize his Cabinet, and that he has actually had the matter under consideration, and may announce his determination to-day. The three Radical members of his Cabinet are said to have intrigued successfully with Senators for the passage of the Civil Rights bill over the veto. The National Intelligencer, of Saturday, attacks the Secretary of War very violently.

Col. W. Goss, a gallant officer of S. C., who commanded the Palmetto Sharp-Shooters, died at Petersburg, on Thursday last.

The Norfolk Post establishment has been purchased by that popular gentleman, Col. Wm. Lamb, the gallant (Confederate) defender of Fort Fisher.

The Lynchburg Hose Company made an admirable turn out in new uniform on Friday last.

The Southside and the Richmond and Danville R. R's., have entered into an agreement by which shippers enjoy the facilities of both roads.

The election for Sheriffs and Constables in Virginia takes place on the 4th Thursday in May next.

A clergyman in Carrollton [Ill.] is reported to have said before his congregation, "I pray to God to raise another Booth to remove the iniquity from the Presidential Chair."

The Right Rev. Bishop Johns administered the right of confirmation to thirty-nine persons, on last Tuesday, at St. George's Episcopal Church, Fredericksburg.

ICE.—A machine for making ice has been invented in London, which will produce eleven pounds of ice in an hour, at a cost of not more than half a cent per pound. This is cheaper than the natural article is furnished in most places.

The military commission which has been sitting in Charleston, for fifty days, on Wednesday adjourned sine die.

Quantrell, the guerrilla, is said to be residing in one of the West India islands, and hard at work.

The Pennsylvania House has passed a bill providing that colored persons shall not be excluded from the passenger cars.

A girl in a paper mill, in Bangor, found a ring composed of thirty diamonds, among some rags she was picking.

The canal at Washington has at last been officially declared a nuisance. The cost of cleaning it is estimated at $75,000.

DISTINGUISHED BIRTH.—One of Herr Lenger's lionesses gave birth to a young prince of the royal line of forest monarchs on the Virginia & Tennessee train, the other day. His princeship was born just as the train reached Wytheville, and we understand that Prof. Lenger performed his usual daring feats in the cage with the mother a few hours after. At last accounts both were doing "as well as could be expected."—Lynchburg Virginian.

The Edgefield (South Carolina) Advertiser of Wednesday last reports the arrest of some dozen or more prominent citizens in that vicinity by the military authorities, and their incarceration at Columbia in that State.

The Gainesville (Florida) Era thinks that State will soon have a superabundant population, as emigrants are pouring in from all parts of the world. It bids them welcome, and assures them of a kind reception, particularly if they bring money.

DAILY SENTINEL

WM. E. PELL, Proprietor.

Extract from An Oration by Hon. H. W. Hilliard.

Before the St. James M. E. Church Sabbath School, Augusta, Geo.

"The smoke of the conflict went up to the heavens. It dimmed the sun by day, and darkened the guiding stars by night. States once harmonious had become discordant and belligerent. The valor displayed on both sides was an American characteristic. We feel no disposition to detract from the gallantry of those who took part against us in the great contest, and upheld the power of the United States.—But we know how to appreciate the high souled courage of those who ranged themselves in defence of the South and upheld her banners against overwhelming numbers. The South is overpowered. She has yielded the great struggle. The states that undertook to organize an independent government, and lifted a new flag under our Southern skies, take their places once more as loyal members of the powerful republic that extends its rule over the continent; and while it seats its institutions in full view of Europe on the Atlantic shore, at the same time rears them in sight of the Asiatic nations beyond the Pacific. The great battle has been lost by the South; but it has been won by the government that embraces our whole country.—That government is our own. We shall rejoice in its prosperity, and contribute to the advancement of its power and glory.

But in resuming our relations to the other States of the American Union, we come with our hearts true to the States that have been overpowered in the great struggle; hearts loyal, too, to the government of the United States.

We cannot forget those who fell in defence of the South. We honor the memory of our dead.

Matured manhood, undeveloped youth—we lament them all. Not the South alone, but the true, the brave, the generous, of the whole country, will lay garlands on the grave of the dead here who sleeps at Lexington; who, by his steady courage on the field, won the title of Stonewall, and whose Christian spirit flamed with matchless ardor in the great fight. The glory which he won, shed a lustre upon the American name. His fame beongs to the whole country. No monumental marble yet marks the spot where the lonely sleeper rests, but it will yet rise towards the skies, and pilgrims from the North, the South, the East and the West, will meet there through the coming centuries.

Now that the war is ended, true heroism is heroism, no matter in what ranks it shone. No matter on which side the merits of the struggle lay as a political contest; no matter how much the movement that precipitated the country into revolution may be condemned or deplored, it is impossible to withhold our homage from the noble men who ranged themselves in ranks of battle to strike for the homes that they loved and principles that they cherished. Their renown is the common property of the nation. Hitherto the North and the South have been rivals in the arts of peace, in literature, in statesmanship, in the pursuits which enrich a people; now they have met in the shock of battle, and they know how to respect each other. It would be a narrow bigotry indeed, that refused to see and to honor heroic qualities on either side of the line that divided the two great sections in their late struggle.

We may well mourn our dead heroes. If the South had been triumphant, if the light of victory illumined our banners, if to-day her fertile soil yielded its products to the labor of her people as in former times, if she were prosperous—her sons may be silent. Standing in the midst of the power and splendor of a free and great State, we might leave to history the task of recording the names of those who laid down their lives for her sake. We should be content to see her glory shine out upon the nation. But now! with her bannors torn, her arms stricken from her hands, her wealth despoiled, the homes of her people in ashes, some of her best and bravest sleeping in death—clad as she is in the garments of mourning, we will cling to her as we would to a mother in adversity. Poor she may be; her fruitful fields may be desolated; her beautiful places may be burned with consuming fire; but she is our mother still—

Remember thee! yes, while there's life in this heart,
It shall never forget thee, all torn as thou art;
More dear in thy sorrow, thy gloom, and thy showers,
Than the rest of the world in the sunniest hours.

Her sons who fell in battle, are our brothers. We will honor their memory. We may be silent as to the living. We cannot forget the dead. No, never! Their memory is safe—

The love where death has set his seal,
Nor age can still, nor rival steal,
Nor falsehood disavow

We are here to-day especially to pay honor to those who have gone out from this very spot to take their places in the ranks of war, never returned to us.

Here they were trained for the duties, and for that higher destiny which awaits the boundary that separates the present from the future.

This Sabbath School, like the mother of the Gracchi, claims her sons as her jewels. She was herself the daughter of a hero—Scipio Africanus. When a lady companion called on her, and made a display of her jewels, inviting the noble Roman mother to exhibit her own, she pointed to her two sons, and exclaimed,—"These are my jewels."

The Gracchi eclipsed the blaze of jewels displayed, by the splendid comparison.

Here in these schools others will be trained to emulate the virtues of those whom we mourn to-day.

This is no idle ceremony. While we pay honors to the dead, we incite the living to attempt noble deeds. Long may this School flourish. May its seats be crowded with the young, who, rising into the highest places of actual life, shall reflect the lustre of their example upon those who are to succeed them.

We must bid farewell to those whose names you have just decided to inscribe on the roll of honor. Farewell, ye brave and generous youths. Some of you fell in battle. Some of you breathed your last sighs in hospitals; some of you languished in prisons, far from your natal South. Farewell.

How sleep the brave who sink to rest
By all their country's wishes blest!
When spring with dewy fingers cold
Returns to deck their hallowed mould,
She then shall press a sweeter sod
Than Fancy's feet have ever trod.

By Fairy hands their knell is wrung;
By forms unseen their dirge is sung;
There honor comes, a pilgrim gray,
To bless the turf that wraps their clay;
And freedom shall awhile appear,
To dwell a weeping hermit there!

RALEIGH, 1866.

LIFE INSURANCE NOTICE.

THE old and well established

Ætna Company, of Hartford,

Offers superior inducements to all who wish to provide for family or friends.

All losses are promptly paid. No case of litigation has ever occurred with this Company. With assetts of $2,300,000, it offers to receive one half of the premium in a note and half in cash and, after the second year, to credit each customer with the dividends of the Company, which are now 50 per cent. With a small outlay, $500, or $10,000, or $20,000, may be secured to the family after their earthly providers are taken away. What father or husband would not feel thankful on his dying couch, that he had availed himself of every proper means to place those nearest and dearest to him, above the pinchings of want, and a life of dependence upon friends or charity? 8 819 policies have been issued from the office ending Jan. 15, 1866. The total income for the year 1865 was $1,683,339 57; total disbursements $527 805 24, leaving a balance to surplus fund of $1,155,244 33.

In Raleigh a large number have liberally responded and promptly acted in this matter; yet many delay, and may wait until it is too late. A man in this city lately left his place of business for his evening meal, well and healthy, but never reached that home except as he was carried there to die. Had that man taken the advice of the Agent, he might have left $5000 to minister to the necessities of a sorrowing family. Delays are dangerous, procrastination destructive. But one says, "If I only had confidence in the Company that it would pay, I would insure." Well, it never has failed to pay, and to-day is more responsible than ever before. It is patronized by some of the most sagacious minds in the land—men competent to detect and expose any deception if it existed.

THIS valuable Manure has been before the agricultural public, under one name for twelve years past, and its character for vigor of action and permanence in effect is well established. Before the war, it was introduced, to some extent, in the Southern States, and was found to be highly adapted to Cotton, Tobacco, and all Crops.

In its action, it is as quick as Peruvian Guano, while it does not leave the land in an exhausted state, but on the other hand permanently improves it. This has been fully proven by years of trial.

A Remarkable Case.

DISEASE IN WHICH THE LUNGS AND THROAT ARE INVOLVED.—Mrs. Phebe Perkinson, Petersburg, Va. (Aug. 26, 1865,) says: "I hereby certify, that two years ago last June, I was afflicted with a disease commonly called the Breast Complaint, the pain and weakness in the breast continued to increase so that I could not bear my clothes fastened on me for the space of two years; I found great difficulty in breathing; a general debility prevailed over my whole system—so much so, that I could not walk up the step without drawing myself up by the banister; had continued hacking cough, which distressed me greatly, four times during my illness had Hemorrhage of the Lungs. All medical treatment failed to afford me relief; it was the opinion of my friends that I must die with the consumption; I was advised to use the SOUTHERN HEPATIC PILLS; after using three boxes, strictly according to directions, I find myself in the enjoyment of perfect health; I have a good appetite, have become as fleshy as I ever was, sleep sound and pleasant, and can perform any duty with as much strength and vigor as I ever did. They certainly have acted like a perfect charm on me."

☞ For sale by the Druggists. Directions accompany each box. Sent to any part of the United States for $3 per dozen. Address,
